Town meeting season begins

Newry will vote on spending for revaluation, fire station addition

By ALISON ALOISIO

Newry voters will decide Monday whether to finance an addition to the Bear River Fire Station and a town revaluation — each at a cost of $50,000.

But if townspeople are willing to use money already in the bank, they can have both items and still see the 1996 municipal budget decrease from 1995.

The budget (not including school and county taxes) as proposed is $368,140 compared to 1995's $351,490.

This year's budget, however, would drop by $100,000 if voters approve use of that amount of money from the highway equipment funds to pay for the addition and revaluation.

Selectman Steve Wright said the $19,859 now in the highway account has been accumulating for about eight years. The assumption has been the town would eventually use it to buy a highway truck.

But such a purchase is no longer necessary, since the town now contracts out for road maintenance.

The addition to the fire station would accommodate larger fire trucks. Currently, large trucks must be housed at the Sunday River station.

The revaluation would be done by an outside assessor — a first for Newry. "We've never had an independent contractor since 1805," Wright said.

Selectmen are also recommending $10,000 be appropriated to build a bike lane from the ballfield on the

Andover faces organizational issues

By ALISON ALOISIO

Andover voters Saturday will consider a proposed $419,000 municipal budget for 1996 — down from last year's appropriation of $431,470.

The $12,000 drop comes largely from a decrease in the amount of money needed for professional services, according to town manager John J. Plante.

This year's budget also proposes a $10,000 increase in the 1995 $1,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a new school building and a new town hall.

The $1,000,000 bond issue will be used to finance the construction of a new school building and a new town hall.

estimated at $8,000 — nearly the same as 1995.

The 1996 Town Meeting agenda includes several proposed changes in town policy or organization.

Fire chief elected or appointed?

One of the questions of a change in town government, consolidated articles, says people will vote to elect or appoint the town's fire chief. The town's fire chief will be elected or appointed.

Plante said the department had been in a state of flux since the death of Chief Victor J. Gault in 1991. Gault was the town's first fire chief since 1954.

could appoint the fire chief, leaving the selectmen more say over the chief, Plante said. Under the fire department plan, the chief would be elected.

Another article calls for the enactment of an ordinance for the recall and removal of elected municipal officers, not including school trustees.

The article is a result of a petition submitted to the town in 1995.

The town's consensus committee could become an appointed position, not a position.

Plante said the current consensus committee was a plan to Town manager one of three options aired at hearing

Town manager John J. Plante is one of three persons on the Board of Selectmen's list of options for the town's future, according to a hearing held in Andover on Feb. 26.

At the hearing, Plante presented his plan to the selectmen and the public. The plan was to have a town manager and a town clerk.

When the selectmen voted on the proposal, they were split 3-2. The selectmen voted to have a town manager and a town clerk.

Bethel selectmen unanimous in finding most of the facts favor Henley's decision

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Although the Bethel selectmen were split on whether Marion Brown should be allowed to return to his job as town clerk, legal papers that became available Monday reveal that they were unanimous in their decision to find that Town Manager Matthew Henley's decision to dismiss Brown was supported by the facts that affected properly and was a matter consistent with her duty to the town in dismissing him, and that she had performed her job well.

In formal "Findings of Fact" released after a Feb. 26 meeting, the selectmen were also unanimous in their finding that the facts of the case, including Brown's shoplifting conviction, supported all the questions raised by the appeal. The board members, seated with Henley's rather than Brown's interpretation of events.

The selectmen differed primarily on the question of whether Brown should nonetheless be allowed to continue as town clerk.

John Thurston found "that while the facts found by the Board justify the town manager's dismissal, the dismissal is too harsh a penalty given Brown's record and the investment of the town in Brown and Brown's investment in the town."

Whitney introduced, and Thurston seconded, a motion that would have acknowledged the town manager's right to dismiss Brown but would have conditionally reinstated him.

But that motion failed, opposed by Dutch Dresser, Ruth Grover, chairman Bob Chadbourne.

Those three then voted for a successful motion affirming the dismissal, and in effect denying Brown's appeal.

The Board was also split 3-2 (individuals not identified) on a finding that "This is not a case of a dismissal of a municipal officer for the commission of a handful of minor offenses and a misdemeanor crime, rather, it is a case of the dismissal of a municipal officer who was deceitful in the workplace and who consistently ignored the basic standards of behavior of a municipal officer, necessary to maintain the faith of the public in its town government."

Unanimous on most of the facts

In regard to the circumstances leading to Henley's decision to fire Brown, the board members were unanimous in finding that:

— the nature of Brown's exploitation and communication with the town manager between October 30, 1995 and January 9, 1996 relative to the crime at Rich's Department Store in Gorham, New Hampshire, on October 30, 1995, were not true and that Brown's untruths amounted to "dishonest" conduct under the town's Personnel Rules and Regulations.

Brown's untruths regarding the shoplifting incident were "dishonest." Board members had previously viewed a videotape of the incident.

— in the performance of his own job, Brown failed to follow proper tax lien procedures and failed to correct those procedures after being instructed to do so on more than one occasion; that his failure to properly file the liens put the town at a continuing risk, and that he had been disciplined and put on probation for the above.

— he failed to properly register two vehicles in March 1995, and did not properly register the vehicles until December 1995, and that such a failure constituted "misconduct" under the town personnel rules.

— his handling of the registration money displayed an attitude "which constitutes unwholesome influence

Brown seeks severance deal but not election to old job

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Marion Brown will not be a candidate for town clerk, and he is seeking a financial severance package from the town.

It has become clear to me and my family that a return to the town office as an employee either appointed or elected would not only be very difficult, but a goal that none of us want," Brown wrote in a Feb. 26 letter to the Board of Selectmen.

The current atmosphere in the town office, he claimed, would lead only to "failure for any successful return, either through the elective or appointive process."

"We all need to let go of this and move on to the many tasks at hand," he concluded.

The question of a severance package was first raised in a Feb. 14 letter to board chairman Bob Chadbourne. "I, along with others, feel that the 20 years of service is worthy of such discussion and positive action," Brown wrote.

In Monday's letter, he elaborated on the request, arguing "a severance package would not only be a grand gesture of goodwill in a process that has been faced with negativity, but would also be a positive gesture to ease the anxiety and frustration of so many of the residents whom you represent that have contacted me."

The selectmen are expected to take up the request at the next meeting, on March 4.

At a special Town Meeting set for March 7, Bethel voters will decide if they wish to make the job of town clerk an elected, rather than appointed, position. An informational meeting on the proposed change will be held tomorrow evening, Feb. 29, at 7 p.m. in the Crescent Park School gymnasium.

... evidence of Brown's standing in the community and with the citizens of Bethel ... is of insufficient weight to override the factual findings of the Board.

UPDATE ON RICK ROY

To the Editor:

So many people have asked about Rick's progress that I thought this would be the best way to let everyone know how he is doing. As many of you know, Rick was admitted to Maine Medical Center in Portland on Jan. 22. The doctors performed an angioplasty but he continued to have chest pains. His lungs filled up with fluid. His doctor decided to put him on a respirator to help him breathe until they were able to reduce the fluid in his lungs.

Rick has been in the intensive care unit since then, battling pneumonia, bronchitis, staph infection and now shingles. He actually came off the respirator for five hours and that evening he suffered a heart attack. Those of you who were students of Rick's, "Mr. Roy," at Telstar know he had a successful kidney transplant 11 years ago. He is very protective of that kidney and anytime you have surgery you run the risk of damaging it. His kidney did fail and he was on dialysis for three days. The fistula in his arm that had not been used for 11 years still worked. The doctors were both surprised and pleased. The kidney is now working on its own again.

Last Friday, he underwent yet another procedure, a tracheotomy. This, hopefully, will be more comfortable for him and will allow him to breathe on his own.

Our son Ricky is in the Air Force and was in Hungary when this all happened. We phoned the Red Cross and they made contact with him. He had clearance to leave but was too ill to go for two days before catching a flight to Germany and from there to Massachusetts. The crew members were from a National Guard unit and they drove Ricky to the front door of the hospital. What a wonderful God we have who supplies for all our needs. It sure was hard to see him so frail, shaky, and walking up the stairs of the hospital. It had been over four years since he had been home and it was good to see him and a half week before returning to California.

Rick has had a great deal of the French but in the winter, I am sure of it, he will be back here. One of the doctors said, "When I would ask him questions, he would just say, 'I don't know.' And then he would say, 'Oh yes, I know.' It is a strange way of saying it."

Our son Rick is a very kind person. He has a long history with our family and is a very good person. He is a very good person and is a very good person. He is a very good person and is a very good person.

THANKS FROM ARLINE BERNIER'S FAMILY

To the Editor:

Arline Bernier had suffered a massive stroke. When she came home, she was paralyzed on her left side. Although the extent of her disability was minimal, she needed almost constant care and attention.

We could not have had the courage to care for Mom had it not been for the vast offers of help and support from our friends and neighbors in Andover. We were assured we wouldn't be alone - even when Mom's condition deteriorated. Expressions of love and support were never far away. We are deeply grateful for their kindness.

We would like to thank the people who helped us on 911 call. I'm thankful to the parents of the children I care for who helped me and to the children who helped me. Mom loved the children in our home and the children who helped me. Mom loved the children in our home and the children who helped me.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, March 7 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House at 7:30 p.m. Featured during the program portion of the meeting will be an oral history night with a panel discussion on farming in the greater Bethel area in the past. Any persons wishing to attend this meeting and/or to ask the panel questions about this topic is cordially invited to attend.

The 22nd annual Heritage Day was held on Friday, Feb. 23 at the Dr. Moses Mason House. Featured during the day were old time crafts by Lorrie Hoeh, caning; Jan Todd and Eva Paulsen, spinning; Grace McKivergan, weaving; Barbara Honkala and Shireen Vincent, quilting. Special tours of the Dr. Moses Mason House Museum were conducted by Helen Morton, Judy Haskell, and Amy Davis. Persis Post served warm Indian pudding from the hearth of the winter kitchen. A local history book fair and historical videos as well as a local art show with paintings by Helen Morton and Richard Hosterman were also part of the day.

B.H.S. ESSAY CONTEST

Bethel Historical Society will once more sponsor the Dr. Moses Mason Award essay contest. The award consists of a $100 savings bond and a certificate of commendation suitable for framing.

To qualify, the student must be in grades 9-12 either at Gould or Telstar and submit an original essay of at least 500 but not more than 3,000 words based on "primary" sources (newspapers, diaries, oral recollections, etc.) discussing a local history subject (confined to Oxford County). Papers in the past have dealt with a wide variety of subjects, ranging from floods, logging, and coffin-making to Indian medicine practices.

Students interested in learning more about the contest should contact school officials or the Bethel Historical Society office at 824-2908. The deadline is Wednesday, May 15.

Students wishing to do research are urged to use the rich collections of the Bethel Historical Society at its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House.

UPTON ROAD WORK NOT SO GREAT

To the Editor:

I have been driving on Upton Road for many years and I have never seen it in such a state of disrepair. The road is full of potholes and the surface is crumbling. It is a disgrace that the town has not taken any action to improve it. I have written to the town several times but have received no response. I am sure that if the town took some action, the road would be in much better shape. I am sure that the town would be proud to have a road that is in such good condition. Briefly

"The Bus" makes its last stop

BETHEL--"The Bus" will discontinue regularly scheduled service to Bethel from Sunday River Ski Resort due to a lack of support, according to organizer Hans Trupp of the Sunday River Brewing Company. The bus may continue to connect the brew pub to the ski resort and may be available, on request, for large groups seeking local transportation. Trupp is urging area businesses and organizations to consider supporting some form of public transportation in the future. He thanks all who have supported the project.

Files taken from town hall

ANDOVER--Constable George Cayer and the State Police are investigating the theft of Town Office and police files from the town hall. "The Andover Police Department's confidential files were broken into and gone through, along with another confidential file that has been stolen," said Cayer. Selectman Joe Madigan said the board couldn't comment on the investigation.

Guidelines for individual comment?

ANDOVER--Constable George Cayer told selectmen last week that disruptive individuals will be removed from selectmen's meetings by a law enforcement agency. He said he had consulted the assistant district attorney on past problems at the meetings. Cayer said no one would be allowed to disrupt meetings with "inappropriate, offensive, interruptive, or repetitive comments." The DA's office recommended selectmen write guidelines for the amount of time for individual comment. Madigan would not say if Cayer's statement referred to repeated questioning of selectmen at successive meetings by resident Sid Pew regarding transfer station finances.

Road upgrades discussed at hearing

NEWRY--Sunday River Ski Resort officials described improvements to be made to the Sunday River and Monkey Brook roads as part of a planned expansion into Jordan Bowl. About two dozen townspeople attended a hearing last Wednesday on the proposed Jordan Bowl hotel, which will be accessed through an extension of the Monkey Brook Road. Both roads will be widened. On the Sunday River Road, ditches would be dug deeper, trees would be cut back to allow the sun to get to the pavement, a crown in the road just before the Monkey Brook intersection would be taken down, and the dip in the intersection would be raised. Regarding a possible traffic light at the Skiway Access Road intersection, the officials said it might be considered if the traffic flow evens out in the future.

Planning Board members leaving

NEWRY--Four Newry Planning Board members are either not seeking reappointment or are resigning before the end of their terms, according to administrative assistant Sylvia Gray. Cindy Brown and Mike Lynch plan to resign in the near future, although their terms are not up until 1997. Brian Hanscom and alternate Randy Baker, whose terms are up this year, will not seek reappointment. Chairman Joe Aloisio's term expires this year as well, but he is seeking reappointment. Gray said that Jim Largess and Jim Trefethen are interested in serving on the board. Appointments are expected shortly after Town Meeting.

Ski free at Mt. Abram

LOCKE MILLS--"The Great Ski Free Day" will take place Friday, March 1 at Ski Mt. Abram. The Keenan Auction Co. and Tuckerman's Outfitters have rented the entire mountain for the day. Anyone may ski for free. Events will include a downhill race and live entertainment in the Loose Boots Lounge.

SWOAM to meet

PARIS--The February meeting of the Western Maine Chapter of Small Woodlot Owners Association of Maine (SWOAM), and the University of Maine Cooperative Extension, will cover marketing timber products harvested from non-industrial woodlots. It will feature a panel discussion among a logger, landowner and forester regarding marketing timber products. The meeting is at Oxford Hills High School on Feb. 28, at 7 p.m. The public is welcome. For more information, call 674-3787.

County eligible for emergency loans

SOUTH PARIS--Oxford and York Counties were declared eligible for Major Disaster Designation Assistance in January, according to G. Arnold Roach, state executive director of the Farm Service Agency in Bangor. The designation was based on damages and losses caused by excessive rain, high winds and flooding that occurred from Oct. 20, 1995, through Nov. 15, 1995. USDA emergency loan applications will be received through Sept. 18, 1996, for physical and production losses. Individuals are requested to contact their local Farm Service Agency for additional information.

Maine environmental risks ranked

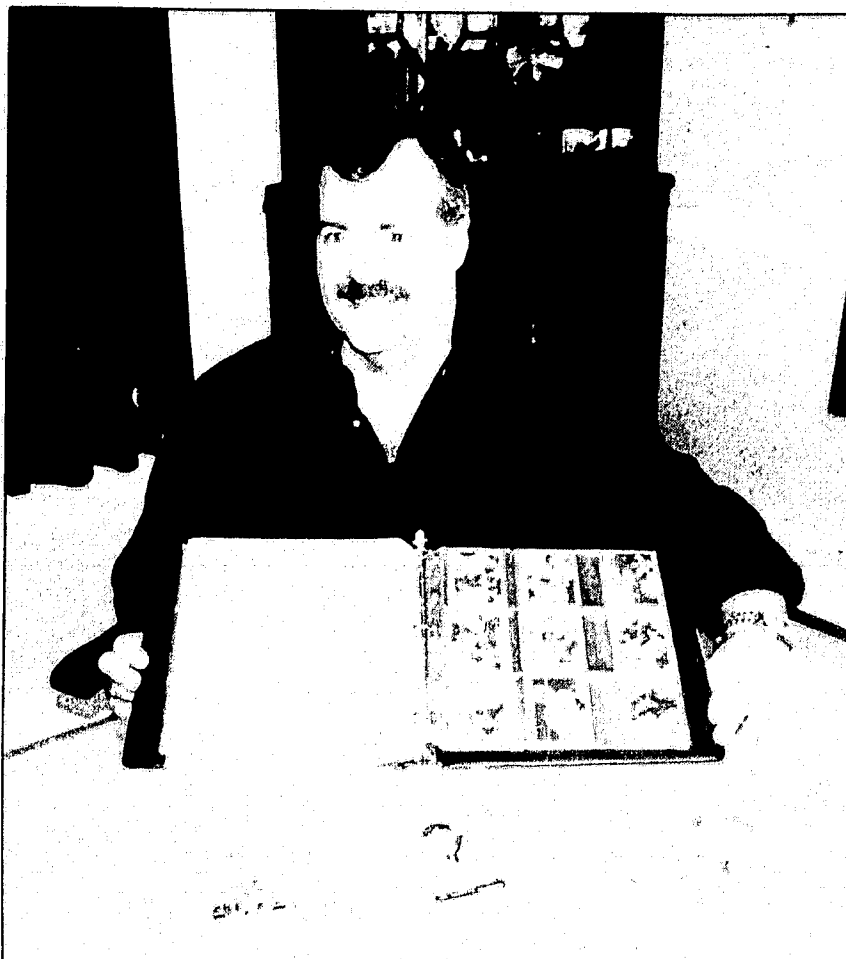

AUGUSTA--A list of environmental concerns in Maine was released last week by the Steering Committee of the Maine Environmental Priorities Project. Thirteen broadly defined environmental issues were assessed, based on a review of the available scientific evidence and public perceptions of the environment. Areas of high concern included: privately-owned drinking water supplies potentially affected by ground-water contamination; "spreading out" patterns of development and associated non-point source pollution of surface waters; fragmentation and loss of habitat affecting Maine's terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems; health effects associated with ground-level ozone and the atmospheric transport and deposition of heavy metals such as mercury; impacts to fish life, other wildlife and plant life from chemical and biological contamination; and the large number of Maine people exposed to unsafe levels of radon, environmental tobacco smoke, combustion by-products, lead and other indoor air pollutants.

FREEPORT--L.L. Bean, which ended a disappointing year with sluggish sales during the crucial gift-giving holiday season, has received a present from the Town Council. The council approved tax incentives worth $3.4 million over 20 years to encourage the outdoors outfitter to forge ahead with a $12 million expansion of its Main Street store. The plan still needs approval from the state Department of Economic and Community Development, which is considered a formality. Under the plan, L.L. Bean would receive a $3.4 million tax break plus $2.4 million in public spending to pay for public improvements like drainage work, sidewalks and lighting. The town, in return, would receive $5 million to pay for a new library and $3.8 million for its general fund. The tax increment financing package removes from the local property tax rolls the value of the retail store addition and Bean's new distribution center for 20 years. Freeport benefits under the plan because removing of the valuation enables the town to avoid a potential reduction in its state education subsidy.

Maine Week on QVC

AUGUSTA--QVC, the cable television shopping channel, will return to Maine in September to showcase Maine products for an entire week. Gov. Angus King said 50 or more products will be featured on the channel during the week of Sept. 8-14, giving millions of viewers a sampling of the state's attractions. QVC said it hopes to visit such sights as the International Sea Plane Fly-In at Moosehead Lake, Rockport Harbor, Portland Head Light and Camden's Main Street Amphitheater. The home-shopping company, which reaches 54 million U.S. homes with cable and satellite television, plans to air weeklong features on 10 states this year. This year's weeklong programming on Maine represents an expansion of a one-day program last September that featured products by 20 Maine entrepreneurs and resulted in sales totaling more than $1.1 million.

WINS $5,000 WORTH OF CARDS--Scott Dennis of Bethel was a monthly prize winner in "The World's Most Valuable Card Giveaway." He won a collection of football trading cards valued at more than $5,000. The cards were presented to Dennis Friday at the Oxford Wal-Mart by former Philadelphia Eagle player Pete Pihos. Dennis' name was then entered in a grand prize drawing, with the winner receiving a 1910 Honus Wagner baseball card valued at $451,000. Unfortunately, Dennis didn't beat the odds again -- the card was won by a woman from Hollywood, Florida.

From the Bethel Police log:

Ambulance barn damaged

At 1 p.m. on Feb. 23 a member of Bethel Rescue reported that at 7 a.m. on Feb. 22 she discovered damage to the ambulance barn. It appeared that a vehicle sitting very low had struck a support located between the two overhead doors. There was $2,000 damage to sheet rock, two drainage pipes, and two 2x6 studs.

Also on Feb. 23

At 7:15 a.m. a police officer noticed the sign and trees located on the traffic island at the top of Main St. had been damaged. It appeared a vehicle had driven up onto the island. There was approximately $100 damage.

At 12:43 p.m. a Locke Mills resident reported that while traveling south on Route 26 her vehicle had struck a large pothole and damaged a front tire and rim. Police told her that MDOT was making repairs, but because of the large number of holes it was taking time.

Sunday, Feb. 25

At 7:50 a.m. a man was stopped for speeding on Main Street. A check of his driver's license showed the license was suspended in Rhode Island. Stephen T. Skoutas of Bethel was charged with operating without a license.

At 9:27 a.m. a Bethel resident reported a vehicle had parked on his lawn and caused damage to the lawn and septic system. Police spoke to the registered owner and he requested a wrecker be called to tow the vehicle. An agreement was reached between the property owner and the vehicle owner. The property owner was satisfied and did not want to press charges.

LINCOLN DAY DINNER

Susan Collins, John Hathaway, and Bob Monks, U.S. Senate candidates and Paul Young, U.S. House of Representatives candidate were the featured speakers at the annual Lincoln Day Dinner at the Bethel Inn, which attracted more than a hundred Republicans to the annual event honoring the founder of the Republican party.

During the social hour, piano music by Virginia Noble of Otisfield was enjoyed and a bountiful buffet dinner was served featuring carved beef and chicken djonaise. Entertainment included the County Chords, a barbershop quartet, and an auction of donated items conducted by Rep. Alvin Barth, Jr. of everything from vacation packages to political memorabilia.

Co-chairs for the dinner, Nancy and Carl Hansen of Bethel, introduced speakers and events throughout the evening.

In honor of Lincoln, Carl Hansen delivered the Gettysburg Address.

Sen. Norman K. Ferguson (R-Hanover) was introduced as the chair of the candidate recruitment committee, which has been hard at work, ensuring that there will be a Republican candidate for every open office relating to Oxford County.

All candidates present at the dinner were introduced. Kathy Gleason, president of the Hannibal Hamlin Women's Republican Club, announced that the club's founding president Evelyn Bean of Woodstock was present and she was recognized for her contributions over the last 25 years.

Chairman Stan Howe thanked everyone for making the dinner such a success and to all who donated to the auction. He gave particular thanks to Becky Kendall for handling the tickets in her usual efficient way and to Barbara D. Brown for all her work on the auction.

Board rejects request for study of TMS issues

By ALISON ALOISIO

The SAD44 School Board Monday voted against forming a committee to study middle-school issues, despite a parent group request at the last board meeting.

Friends of TMS co-chairs Ellen Marshall and Pat Donovan had asked the board two weeks ago to look into parent dissatisfaction with the school. They cited as an example a recent petition asking to return the sixth grade to the elementary schools.

But Greenwood director Ray Harrington said it was the school principal's job to deal with any problems. He said if parents were dissatisfied with the principal, they should "get back to the board via the superintendent's office."

Woodstock director Margaret Hand agreed. "It's not our job. If we don't like the way they (the administrators) are doing it, let's find someone else to do it," she said.

The vote against forming the committee was unanimous.

Other business

In other business, it was announced that Crescent Park School has received a $19,000 computer software grant from the CompuTeach software company.

The grant requires a $4,000 match from the district -- money which Supt. Ron Jenkins said would come from currently budgeted computer funds.

In a presentation of the proposed elementary schools' budget, Woodstock principal Bruce Bell said he advocates continuing the use of bottled water at the school, even if the school's water tests out safe. The cost is about $2,000 a year.

Bottled water has been used this year due to marginal levels of lead and copper in tap water tests.

Bell said the water has a metallic taste, and he doesn't drink it himself. He said parents have also expressed concerns about the water.

Two board meetings have been rescheduled to avoid conflicts with the Newry and Woodstock Town Meetings. A March 4 meeting has been rescheduled for March 5 at 7 p.m. at Telstar, while a March 25 meeting has been changed to March 26 at 7:30 p.m. at Crescent Park.

Newry meeting

Sunday River Road to the end of the Monkey Brook Road.

The work would take place in conjunction with Sunday River Ski Resort's plan to widen and improve those roads.

The highways and bridges account would receive $50,000 in funding ($6,000 less than 1995) if approved.

A total of $5,310 is proposed for 19 various social services or causes. That figure is up about $200 from last year.

Selectmen are proposing to use $30,000 from unappropriated surplus to reduce taxes -- the same as in 1995.

Administrative assistant Sylvia Gray and deputy town clerk Beth Bean are scheduled for raises of roughly 5 percent, Wight said.

Salaries for other town officials will remain the same.

Townpeople will also decide whether to continue receiving ambulance service from Med-Care of Rumford. The contract is up in 1997, and the warrant article proposes to continue it through 2006.

There has been some discussion at Town Meetings in recent years about getting the service elsewhere.

Voters will also be asked to endorse an E-911 address ordinance. It would lay out guidelines for numbering and naming roads in town in preparation for the implementation of E-911 emergency services in 1997.

Also up for discussion is a proposal to stagger the terms of the town's three selectmen. Currently all the seats are up for election each year.

Under the new plan, selectmen would serve three-year terms, with one elected each year.

"It might lessen the notion of career selectmen," Wight said.

The three incumbent selectmen are running again this year, he said. School director Debbie Gilbert's term expires in April and she will seek reelection, according to Wight.

Dave Langlois, who was appointed to the other School Board seat last fall, will run to finish out the now two-year term.

Wight said he knew of no other new candidates for the town offices.

There are a total of 68 articles on the warrant. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. at the Raymond C. Foster Building.

Andover meeting

"It would be a good time for a change. It would give selectmen more direct control on road maintenance," he said.

Another article to be considered proposes a cost analysis of leaving SAD44.

Lighting the way

Voters will be offered three options to save money on street lighting. Andover appropriated $11,000 in 1995 for lights.

"A CMP consultant surveyed all the lights and determined which ones could be deleted without compromising safety," Plantier said.

Savings on the options are $6,345, $4,944, and $4,383, respectively. The savings are a function of the number of poles to be removed.

Poles proposed for removal are listed by road and pole number in the warrant articles.

Plantier said that regardless of whether any of the options are approved, selectmen are proposing $11,500 for the 1996 street light account. The full funding would be needed to pay CMP to remove any poles.

The savings would be realized the following year," Plantier said.

Voters will also be asked if they want to appropriate money to buy what is known as the Grimaldi property on Elm Street.

The 37-acre parcel has been proposed as a site for a recreational field.

Plantier said the land has a price tag of $30,000. The land purchase account currently stands at $12,164.

Selectmen are also proposing $25,000 to maintain the new transfer station.

About $40,000 went for waste disposal last year, according to selectman Joe Madigan.

Voters will also be asked how frequently they want a demolition material dumpster available -- weekly, monthly, or quarterly.

Monthly costs in the past have been about $2,000.

Resurfacing of the tennis court -- at a cost of $2,000 professionally or $1,000 with volunteer work -- is also up for discussion.

Plantier said there are three candidates for incumbent Geri Gaudet's selectman's position -- Gaudet, Laura Hutchins, and Brian Mills.

Rick Mills is running unopposed for the School Board, for a seat being vacated by Brad Thibodeau.

Polling hours for the election of town officials will be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on March 5.

The Town Meeting starts at 9 a.m. on Saturday, March 2.

Andover options

five person board of selectmen would go a long way toward providing continuity -- and cost the town less money.

With a five-member board, he said, "You've got at least three people making a decision. I don't think there would be a problem getting people to run, if you spread the work out over five people."

A financial comparison put together by the committee showed that hiring a town manager would cost the town $27,405 more than the current form of government, an administrative assistant with three selectmen $10,720 more, and a five-member board $5,400 more.

In the committee's proposal, an administrative assistant would take over the responsibilities of treasurer and secretary to the selectmen.

With a town manager scenario, the offices of town clerk, tax collector, treasurer, and road commissioner would be assumed by the manager. A full-time secretary would also be hired, and selectmen's pay would be cut from $2,000 each to $1,000.

Selectman Joe Madigan favored going to a five-person board -- period. He advocated giving each person an area of responsibility to oversee, such as the Fire Department or road maintenance.

That plan, he said, would lead to more citizen involvement in government.

Committee member Kathy

Williamson was skeptical.

"It all sounds good on paper," she said. But she questioned whether five people could be found who were willing to do the work.

No change until next year

The three alternatives are posed as three separate articles on the Town Meeting warrant. An affirmative vote on any of them for a combination would direct a committee to pursue that plan.

The final vote for adoption of a change to a town manager or administrative assistant would take place at least 90 days before the next year's annual Town Meeting.

Findings

on other employees" under the personnel rules, but that the conduct was not "dishonest" under the rules, nor did the conduct constitute the conversion of the money to his personal use.

His claim the town manager treated him harshly and unfairly because he used the issue of an employee association was "not believable and the evidence was not persuasive."

Four of the board members found that Brown used and misappropriated postage paid for by the Town by using the Town's postage meter for his personal mail such as cook books and Christmas cards. One selectman (unnamed) found insufficient evidence for this finding.

The board was also unanimous in its opinion that "evidence of Brown's standing in the community and with the citizens of Bethel, as expressed in petitions and letters received by the (town manager) the Board and Brown, is of insufficient weight to override the factual findings of the Board."

LUGAR -- AN ALTERNATIVE TO NEGATIVITY

To the Editor:

With all the nastiness that has so far characterized the Republican presidential nomination race, it seems curious for the press and the public to ignore the quest of Sen. Richard Lugar of Indiana. Lugar, to his credit, has stayed above the fray, refusing to criticize his rivals. For those who hate negative politics, he should be held up as an example of principle over partisan pandering. He has been thoroughly positive in his message and not taken the low road to appeal to the darkest forces in our society. Yet he has so far not "connected" with the voters. Why?

It is true that he is not a flashy guy, that he does not present himself in compact sound bites. He does have a message and good ideas about government, taxes, the economy, and America's place in the world. He also has a record of accomplishment in the Senate, where he is among the most respected senators. He has served as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and is currently chairing the Agriculture Committee, a post he has courageously used to reform the subsidy program while representing a farm state.

His extensive and impressive grasp of foreign policy issues and his courage in cutting the size of government in innovative ways attract my attention. He has served as a mayor of an American city so he knows from firsthand experience the challenges faced by urban America and has proposed and worked for solutions to these dilemmas. He still operates a productive family farm and a small business. As far as I can determine, he has led an exemplary life. There are no scandals; his honesty and reputation for integrity are well-known.

In fact, there have been an abundance of editorials and commentary citing the fact that Dick Lugar is eminently qualified to be president. No person in public life today is, perhaps, as well suited by experience and temperament to be a great president.

As an opponent for President Clinton, he would have a number of advantages. As a fellow Rhodes Scholar, he did finish Oxford University, unlike the President, and he did serve in the U.S. Navy. More significantly, there are no rumors of marital infidelity and no financial scandal that would have to be investigated.

With all this in mind, I hope Republicans who are unsure of how to vote on March 5 will join me in supporting Dick Lugar for President. If the nomination process becomes deadlocked, he would be the ideal alternative to unite the party and defeat the present incumbent.

PUBLISHING TAX LIST WAS SELF SERVING, UNFAIR

To the Editor:

With all the acrimony and sanctimony regarding the unfortunate decision to relieve the town clerk of his duties, the recent publication of tax delinquents has led many to conclude that the Town Office was responsible. Not so. It should be pointed out that the members of our Town Office did not surreptitiously forward this public information to the Bethel Citizen. It was in fact requested by the editor in an effort to appear investigative in response to Lenny Hoy's well received comments published earlier. Admit it Bethel Citizen it was not only poor timing and self serving, it was unfair.

John Bayerlein
Bethel

Editor replies: We thank John Bayerlein for his clever analysis of our motives. Unfortunately his conclusion -- as is often the case with such post-hoc reasoning -- is alluring but incorrect. What happened was this: Some time prior to Merton Brown's suspension, the town manager mentioned to us that the Town Office staff was moving ahead on some overdue tax matters, and we briefly discussed the possibility of publishing the names of the most seriously delinquent taxpayers. At that point we had no idea who was on the list. One learns a lesson, of course, but in the absence of any evident problem, delinquent taxpayers, while a matter of public record, was not an issue the newspaper had looked into. We thought no more of the matter until the Feb. 8 selectmen's meeting, when tax liens were on the agenda. The town manager's memo for that meeting noted that there were 16 (unnamed) taxpayers who were more than $5,000 in arrears. That's 16 people who owed the town nearly $200,000 (or a fifth of a million dollars, if you will). This is certainly a newsworthy item, so the following day, Feb. 6, we asked for and received a list of those names (no investigative heavy lifting was involved), and on Wednesday, Feb. 7, the list was published in the newspaper. We certainly agree with Mr. Bayerlein that the timing was not only unfortunate, but painful. Sometimes, however, these things cannot be helped. And we're sure he can appreciate that: 1) having asked for the list with the expressed intent of publishing it, and 2) having earlier supported Brown editorially, it would have been indefensible for us upon finding his name high on that list -- to reverse course and decide not to publish it. --MRD

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

When Jackson-Silver Post hosted its annual Oyster Stew supper on Feb. 15, there were 88 Post and Unit members and guests present.

One of the guests was Dan Wilson, supervising social worker of the Western Maine Veterans Home. He gave an overview of admission criteria, services and programs available at the facility and answered questions about funding of stays, emphasizing that the Home is not just a place for residents to spend their remaining days, but is also a rehabilitation facility in which the stay is short-term following a period of hospitalization.

Before the gathering could disperse a special surprise presentation was made. Realizing that one of the members had 58 continuous years of membership, the Auxiliary had voted to present a VIM (Very Important Member) card to Cathryn Lacey. This indicates that they paid her dues for life. She first moved to California when an infant and remained there for three years. Her parents moved back to Maine and she was later enrolled in the Jackson-Silver Unit, having continued in it for 58 years. She recalled being a member of the orchestra which the Post and Unit formed in the late Forties which played for weekly dances in their old hall on Route 26 in Locke Mills. Through the years she held numerous offices, including Secretary and four terms as the President--'73, '74, '75 and '83. At present she makes weekly trips to the Veterans Home where she and husband, Cleve, play piano and organ for the religious services conducted by Post member, Pastor John Grant. They make similar visits to the Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris. They have three children and six grandchildren, all members of the Legion, Auxiliary or Sons of the Legion (SAL). Cathryn's mother, Fannie Cummings is the only Unit member with longer Legion Auxiliary membership, having attained 76 years. Fannie accompanies them most of the time to the Veterans Home and Ledgeview, where she visits with the residents.

The Auxiliary held a meeting following the supper, at which time the Charter was draped in loving member of Rosalia Bachelier. She had been a very active member at one time and held the offices of President and Secretary. A gift in her memory was voted for the Parkinson's Disease Foundation.

In other business, Evanna Davis announced that the first meeting of the Junior group which she is forming was to be held on Monday, Feb. 19 at 1 p.m. Evanna had just come from the awards program at Telstar to which the Unit had contributed the funds for presenting Academic Awards.

Other donations voted were to the Spirit of Youth Foundation and the American Legion's Child Welfare Foundation.

On Sunday, Feb. 18, Jackson-Silver Unit was to have hosted the District 2 meeting, preceded by the District Oratorical contest in which high school students from Androscoggin, Franklin and Oxford counties competed. This was held at 1 p.m.

Oxford County Council will meet with the West Paris Post and Unit for their monthly meeting on Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Other dates to remember are: March 3 at 1:30 p.m. for an initiation ceremony for all who have not previously been initiated. March 7 is the next regular meeting of Post and Unit. On March 8 the Post will have a special Bingo to benefit Project Graduation, and the Unit will host another card party on Sunday afternoon on March 10 at 1 p.m. The first Musical Supper of the coming season will be at 5 p.m. on March 12 at which the Richard Felt Band will furnish the dance music.

From the UM Cooperative Extension:

Home gardeners can plant the seeds for a successful 1996 growing season by attending Maine Garden Day, Saturday, April 13, at the University of Southern Maine Lewiston-Auburn College.

The University of Maine Cooperative Extension is sponsoring the all-day event, featuring 26 educational sessions with informative displays and a keynote address by Maine Herbalist and author Corinne Martin. Maine Garden Day participants can select from sessions that will cover the how-to's of: Integrated Pest Management, Soil Science, Extending the Growing Season, Backyard Strawberry Production, Growing Herbs, Potatoes, Apples, Maximizing Compost Use, Gardening with Physical Limitations, Planning the Garden, Building Soil Organic Matter, Insect Identification and Control, Designing Flower Gardens, Computer Gardening, Starting Seeds and Transplanting, Growing Raspberries, Lawn Care, Basic Composting, Using Medicinal Herbs, Organic Gardening, Woody Plants and Shrubs, Nutrient Cycling in Organic Gardens, Animal Pest Control, Diagnosing Garden Problems, Gardening for Wildlife, Plasticulture.

In addition to the workshops and educational displays, commercial vendors will offer participants a chance to look at and purchase the latest in gardening equipment and seed varieties. Pre-registration is required. The fee is $15 per person and includes lunch. For more information or to receive a registration form, contact the Oxford County Extension office at 1-800-287-1482 or 743-6329.

MICRO-BREW FESTIVAL

The 1st Annual White Heat Brewers Festival will be held on Saturday, March 2, at the Summit Hotel at Sunday River Ski Resort in Newry.

This festival will feature a wide variety of brews that Maine's micro-breweries produce. The Festival will offer two tastings, the first from 3 to 6 p.m. and the second from 7 to 10 p.m. The tickets are $15 and include a souvenir tasting glass, 12 beer sampling coupons and a program.

This Brewer's Festival will offer the chance to taste the ales, stouts, lagers and porters produced by 15 of the Maine brewers.

Food will be supplied by Sunday River's restaurants. Music will be supplied by Papa Loves Mambo, and the Van Gogh Gos. There will also be home-brewing displays. For more information call 780-8229.

WOMEN'S BUSINESS COURSE

A free 10-week training program will be offered this spring by Maine Centers for Women, Work and Community -- formerly the Maine Displaced Homemakers Program.

The course offers the opportunity to learn how to refine a business idea; how to communicate well with employees, suppliers, bankers, etc.; how to do a market study, prepare financial statements and keep accurate records; and how to write a business plan.

The course runs from April 2 to June 4, Tuesdays, from 9:30 to 3:30 and will be held at the South Portland Center of Women, Work and Community.

An application and interview are required. The application deadline is March 18. For more information call 1-800-442-2092.

COPING WITH CANCER

Stephens Memorial Hospital and the American Cancer Society will co-sponsor six classes for people with cancer, their family and friends, called "I Can Cope." Classes will begin on March 20 and are scheduled Wednesday evenings from 5 to 6:30 p.m. During this time, participants will learn about cancer diagnosis, treatment, side-effects, nutrition, exercise, stress management and more.

The program gives participants an opportunity to share their concerns with others having similar experiences and to design ways to cope with the challenges that arise from a cancer diagnosis. Guest speakers include various professionals in the field of cancer management; for example physicians, nurses, dietitians, physical therapists, occupational therapists and massage therapists. In addition, videotapes, print material and class discussion provide up-to-date information for patients, family and friends. The last class will feature a panel of cancer survivors.

There is no charge for this program, but registration is required.

For more information contact program coordinator Robin Green, LSW, in the Stephens Memorial Hospital Social Services Department, 743-5933, Ext. 490.

JAZZ, BLUES AND ART

The Sexual Assault Crisis Center and the Abused Women's Advocacy Project will host an evening of art and entertainment on Saturday, March 23, at the Lewiston Middle School.

Scheduled performers are Top 40, Jazz Workshop, and the Blues Barn Band. A silent auction of art objects will be held before and during the event, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. All proceeds will be used for services offered by the two agencies including emergency crisis assistance for victims of sexual assault and domestic violence.

Tickets are available beginning Feb. 28 at Austins, Shop 'n Save-Lewiston, and Victor News for $7 in advance, $8 at the door. For more information call A.W.A.P. at 784-3995 or S.A.C.C. at 784-5272.

Gail Butterfield, Dept. President Sally Sawyer and Beth Adams doing the ritual work of installation.

Under Good of the Order, Joyce Gouin was presented her 50-year membership pin and a corsage and a beautiful cake. Her daughter, Leslie Dean, had the honor of presenting this to her. The guests and 50-year members present were each given a bouquet of pretty yellow carnations.

Discussion was made about the supper that the Daughters will be putting on for the Oxford County Republicans' meeting here in Stoneham at the church vestry on Tuesday, April 19. The new password was given out to members. The next D.U.V. meeting will be at the church vestry on Wednesday, March 27.

The Pasta Feed at the Harrison V.F.W. hall in Harrison last Sunday was well attended. They served about 130 people. This was put on by the Norway, Harrison, and Stoneham snowmobile clubs.

Alice Harmon is home from the hospital after having surgery and is doing O.K. That's good news, Alice. Jim Morrison is again home from the hospital. Helen Strout is also home following her hospitalization. We wish you all a good recovery.

This week, I got a dozen red roses from Albert and today got a beautiful corsage. I am sure lucky to have such a good family -- children and grandchildren.

Sharon Traish and Nawal are here from Massachusetts visiting her parents and Aisha and Jaffer are visiting their cousins, Molly and Matthew Nelson. The skiing and snowmobiling plans were kind of wiped out on account of all the rain but it has been a good time for movies, games and visiting.

The Planning Board met last Wednesday to discuss a couple permits. This was followed by an informational meeting of the Planning Board and selectmen with representatives from the Evergreen Valley Associates concerning phosphorous runoff, etc.

Recently, I was pleased to learn that granddaughter Aisha Traish will be among the 31 members of the Belmont High School String Orchestra that will embark on an 11-day concert tour of Germany and Austria. The Belmont group, which will be traveling with the 60-member Chelmford High School

Symphony Orchestra, will perform four concerts in Dinkelsbühl, Salzburg, Waidhofen and Vienna. The programs will include works by Bach, Vivaldi, Beethoven, Haydn and Tchaikovsky, as well as more contemporary pieces by Grainger, Copland and Menken.

BHS faculty member Kenneth Hanson is the orchestra's conductor and the organizer of this great adventure. Since 1981, Hanson has been taking young musicians overseas. He cannot recommend the experience highly enough. Socially, the students come together, forming stronger bonds with each other, which benefits their musical performance as well as their personal lives.

The students will be visiting places from the lives of Mozart, Haydn and other composers, whose works they regularly play. It is a kind of pilgrimage through their musical heritage. The prospective trip has been a strong motivating force for the current string orchestra, who are working hard musically so that they will perform well.

They have built up contacts in many European cities, and have fine-tuned all the details of the current Austria/Germany tour. It is no mean feat to transport not only the students but also nearly 100 instruments.

Vera Cross is recuperating well. Keep it up Vera. I am glad to report Debbie Brown is doing much better. I did enjoy driving her places, but I will forego that enjoyment in favor of the joy I have at her feeling better.

I am also happy to report that Rick Roy has been doing better. I was sorry to hear of the death of Arlene Bernier and I'm sure the town joins me in wishing the family will be comforted in this time of sorrow and offering our sincere sympathy. She was a lady whose family and circle of friends stretched far and wide. She is mourned by many and will be sorely missed.

Songo Pond

by Alice Kimball
The pond this week looks like a patchwork quilt of water, snow and ice.

The rains, fog, and warm temperatures this week have taken their toll on the high-ways.

Mrs. Marian Rich, a neighbor and summer resident here for many years, will observe her 100th birthday on March 15. Although confined in a nursing home, she enjoys receiving cards and letters. Her address is: c/o Virginia Synod Lutheran Home, 3804 Brandon Avenue, S.W., Roanoke, Va 24018.

Miss Kaity Gatchell of Portland spent the holiday weekend with her grandparents here while her parents were recovering from illness. On Monday they went to Augusta to attend a tournament basketball game.

Monday afternoon visitors here were Mrs. Mary Ellen Connolly from New Jersey with her new little granddaughter, Emily Rose Connolly of Falmouth, while the rest of the families got in some skiing.

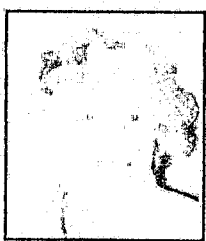

Monday visitors also were Mrs. Ethel Turner of Otisfield, her daughter Sarah from Wheelock College in Boston and daughter Amber from U.V.M. in Burlington, Vt.

Mrs. Sylvia Swan and children of Auburn came for a visit Tuesday and enjoyed some sledding. Bill Bancroft is still receiving physical therapy at the Norway Convalescent Center.

He who fiddles around seldom gets to lead the orchestra. -- D. Woods--

Happy Birthday, Gladys! Hope it was a good one!

North Newry

by Gil Seely
The members of the Windy Valley Snowmobile Club wish to thank all the people of the Bethel community who contributed to their donation to the Oxford County Association for the Retarded Children's annual Ride-In. The club's donation was over $1,200 for this fund-raising event. We couldn't do it without your help! Again, many thanks.

On Friday evening, March 1, join others at the Sunday River Inn and Cross Country Ski Center from 7:30 to 9 p.m. for some cross-country skiing and sleigh rides. Steve will have trails lit and a bonfire going. You can ski and enjoy the fire, sing songs, toast marshmallows. Tim Korhonen will also be there with his horses, Ben and Gerry, to take folks on a sleigh ride. The evening is free to Newry residents, compliments of the Recreation Committee and Steve and Peggy Wight. If you need to rent cross-country ski gear, the fee is $3. There will also be a group from Bethel Savings Bank and a church youth group skiing and sleighing. It should be a fun evening. Hope to see you there.

1,2,3.--You know the old saying, everything comes in threes...Well, we had the trial of the century. Now, comes the weather of the century. Someone will make money on that, also. The snow blowers, the shovels, the repair garage, the batteries and flash lights, the ski resorts, the boots, the doctors, the hospitals. I could go on and on, someone always makes money on someone's misfortunes. It seems even Mother Nature went on a rampage, she doesn't know where or when to go...Calm down Mother...Take your tranquilizer, or sleeping pill...We have had enough...After this exciting winter...Will we have a dull summer?

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seely and Olive Anderson, members of the "Newry Bowling Gang," were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford bowling for fun one day last week. On the overall scores, Betsy was high again on the singles with two strings of 108 and 100, and high on the triples with a grand score of 304. She had six spares, Karlene two spares, Gil one spare and Olive one strike.

Karlene Bachelder celebrated her 68th birthday last week with her husband, Ras, Betsy and Dick Clark and yours truly at home with a luncheon, cake and ice cream, coffee, etc. Cards were read that she received from friends and relatives, presents were opened, and color slides were enjoyed, taken in Canada and surrounding areas. We hope her birthday brings all that she is wishing for.

In my past column of Jan. 31, I had made a mistake on my age and asked if anyone else noticed besides Sylvia Gray. Well, Amy Hanscom and Vida did...I received a nice letter from Amy, and she said she thought I could figure better than that, ha. I was so glad to hear from her. I see her once in a while in the summer but not in the winter. She said that Roger is not gaining much from his fall of Dec. 23. His neck is very painful if he sits up very long. Ruth and Cathy Newell and Charlotte Cole and Robert were there a couple of Sunday's ago. Amy says they had a church service that Sunday. Debbie Janks preached and Charlotte played her guitar and several people sang and entertained them.

The Windy Valley Sno-Mobile Club will meet Feb. 5 at 7 p.m. at the Town Building.

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan
One of the most exciting things about this world is that it is equally mysterious and fascinating, whether we look with unaided vision or through a microscope or a telescope. A snowflake is as beautiful as the sea. Everywhere we look there are wonderful intricate forms. Everything seems to balance and work. When one can no longer look because of the richness of it all, he can still lose himself marveling at its history and development revealed by geology, astronomy and the like.

It is true that January and February are months of cold and storm, but if one waits long enough some gorgeous days arrive. We had some of those days last week, so I enjoyed them when I went outside.

At times it seemed that the clock had gone wrong. The surprising gentleness of the sunshine and the blue of the sky and the temperature that rose to 40 or more were unbelievable. Little creatures were triggered into activity. A chipmunk left his dark bedroom and raced about. I saw him running and making holes in the snow. How happy he was. He made me happy just watching him play. A big bird flew above him, a streak of blue flame. He made one call, "I'm Mr. Blue Jay," then flew away. He, too, was happy. They didn't know what was ahead for them -- that it's only February.

A mole, startled by my appearance, quickly disappeared into a hole in the snow and traveled his secret tunnels. It was the first that I had ever seen in the snow or out in the winter time.

I lingered beneath a tall pine to watch and listen then turned toward home. I could hear the eerie sound of the wind telling me that winter was not over.

School vacation week was like many I remember. It usually snowed or rained, but I hope the children had some rest and fun.

Rena Curtis' daughters and families visited her and they all went out for lunch early in the week. My valentine flowers are still fresh and lovely.

I talked with a friend, who lives in Tennessee, during Valentine week. She was Ellen Cottrell -- Burn now. It was nice to hear her voice again. She is recovering from a broken hip. She went to Gould when I did.

My brother Ernest is again hospitalized, but at this time his problem isn't found. He is having tests.

This morning, the 22nd, the pond looks like spring for it's covered with water again.

The snowmobile trail has vanished.

West Paris by Russell Yates
Plans are being made for a benefit supper to help 10-year-old Beth Coffin of West Paris at the West Paris Grange Hall on March 16 from 5 to 6:30 p.m. It is being put on by neighbors and friends of Beth.

The price for supper will be $5 for adults and $3 for children, with those under five years old free. Donations of food items will be very acceptable. Call Mary Lovejoy at 674-2147 if you wish to donate food.

Donations of money may be sent to Dick Manson, c/o The Lake Store, Box 112, Norway, ME 04268. Because of health problems, Beth is unable to attend school and is being tutored by a retired teacher at home and they need a voice-activated computer very badly. This certainly is a very worthy cause and we hope for lots of cooperation in donating both food and money to help Beth and her tutor. Thank you all.

GYMNASTICS AT CPS

Oxford Hills Gymnastics is offering an after-school gymnastic program at the Crescent Park School for boys and girls in grades K-6. Classes will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 starting Thursday, March 7. Beginner to advanced instruction will be given in tumbling and vaulting, on balance beam and bars.

Registration will be held Friday, March 1, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Crescent Park School and flyers will go out in the school the week of Feb. 26. The fee for seven weeks (one class per week) is $35. All participants must be registered before the first class and registrations are taken on a first-come, first-served basis with a minimum and maximum policy in effect. Payment plans along with partial scholarships are available to qualified applicants. For more information or to request a registration form, call Donna Landry at 529-1998.

Last Chance to Save on 1995 Taxes

The year has ended, but you can still reduce your 1995 tax bill. Here are some tips that may help you keep more of your money:

- Review your filing status. Joint filing results in the lowest tax for many married couples. However, if one spouse had most of the deductions, separate filing may save money.
- If you have children under age 13 and you and your spouse work or go to school, find out if you're eligible to claim the credit for qualified child-care expenses.
- Carefully check Form 1099. Make sure that you report income properly, and be careful not to include tax-exempt interest on Schedule B. If you claimed the standard deduction in 1994, do not report your 1994 state tax refund as 1995 income.
- Don't overlook local and state income taxes. If you itemize, deduct the amount shown on Form W-2; any estimated payments, and any payments that you sent with your 1994 state return. While auto license fees are not deductible, you should deduct any personal property tax that is included in the cost of your license plates. Check brokerage and mutual fund statements for any foreign taxes paid.
- Consider allocating some of last year's tax preparation fee to business or rental activities. Instead of taking an itemized deduction that may be subject to limitation, if neither you nor your spouse participates in a pension plan, you could reap significant benefit from an IRA contribution made by April 15, 1996. Self-employed taxpayers can establish and contribute to a SEP-IRA until the due date of your return. Also, you can make a 1995 Keogh contribution in 1996 up to the filing of your 1995 return, as long as the Keogh existed before January 1, 1996.
- If you are self-employed, own rental property, or have a high income, consider seeking professional tax guidance. Complicated tax law makes expert help essential.

HEALTHY LIVING

A Procedure that Saves Women's Lives

From the Bethel Area Health Center

One in every 50 women will get endometrial cancer during her lifetime. The cancer, found in the lining of the endometrium is most common in women nearing menopause and usually comes with abnormal bleeding or an enlarged uterus.

Cancer of the endometrium is the fourth most common cancer in women. Risk factors include obesity, high blood pressure, and infertility.

The good news is that one simple test - a biopsy - could save the life of a woman with endometrial cancer. In fact, about 90 percent of the women whose cancer is found early by an endometrial biopsy will survive.

Endometrial biopsy is usually performed late in the menstrual cycle, when the lining is thickest. The entire procedure takes about five minutes. The woman is first prepared as though she were having a Pap smear. A common way for the procedure to be performed begins with the provider inserting a small flexible tube (about as wide as three pieces of spaghetti) into the uterus through the cervix. He or she will then twist the tube in a spiral pattern to obtain a sample of the uterine lining. After the sample is collected and prepared for lab tests, the patient will lie flat for 10 or 15 minutes. Cramps - common with this procedure - usually subside within an hour.

Most labs will report test results within a few days. If the biopsy is abnormal, the patient may be referred to a specialist for further evaluation and treatment.

If it is determined that a person needs an endometrial biopsy the Health Center providers do offer this service as well as patient education.

MEDICAL COLUMN Diabetes Mellitus

by Keith M. Shute MD, Androscoggin Valley Hospital

Diabetes mellitus affects approximately 3 percent of Americans. Adult-onset diabetes mellitus (also called Type II diabetes) usually affects adults over age 40 and sometimes is detected without the classic symptoms of being very thirsty, very hungry, needing to urinate a lot, losing weight or feeling tired.

Although scientists are uncertain of the exact cause of adult-onset diabetes, many studies have shown that this type of diabetes results from abnormal metabolism of calories, particularly carbohydrates (types of sugars). For most people with adult-onset diabetes, their bodies do not produce sufficient amounts of the hormone insulin (leading to high blood sugars). In many cases, the cells in their bodies are relatively resistant to the insulin, tending to lower the blood sugar as much as anticipated (also leading to high blood sugars).

Medical experts do not fully understand why some people develop diabetes. However, certain people seem to be at a higher risk of developing diabetes. Those at risk include overweight adults, those over age 40, having had diabetes in pregnancy (gestational diabetes), and having a family history of adult-onset (Type II) diabetes.

Adult-onset diabetes is a chronic disease that cannot be cured but must be managed jointly by the diabetic patients and their health care team. For some, diabetes may be very well controlled and represent a minor inconvenience in their life; for others, diabetes may be poorly controlled and lead to life-threatening complications. Complications related to diabetes include blood vessel disease (leading to angina, heart attack, carotid artery disease, stroke, circulation problems in legs with risk for amputation), nerve damage (particularly in the feet, increasing risk of ulcers and risk for amputation), kidney disease (from minor changes in kidney blood or urine tests to kidney failure with need for dialysis), eye complications (damage to blood vessels, called retinopathy, can sometimes progress to blindness), and high blood pressure (hypertension). There is no such thing as "mild diabetes". All diabetes are at risk of these severe complications; however, "well controlled diabetes" have a lower risk of developing these problems.

Adult-onset diabetes is always treated with diet and exercise. Diabetic diets recommend certain types of foods and portions to help regulate blood sugars. Such diets may or may not lead to weight loss, depending on the person's initial weight. Exercise helps lower and stabilize blood sugars, may improve how well one's insulin works (improved sensitivity or decreased resistance), and will help people feel better.

Some diabetes also need medication: pills, insulin, or a combination of both. Oral hypoglycemic agents (literally, pills to lower blood sugar) are called sulfonylureas based on their chemical structure. These agents act to increase the amount of insulin the body produces and/or make their insulin work more effectively. Older oral hypoglycemic agents include tolbutamide (Orinase), chlorpropamide (Diabinese), and tolazamide (Tolinase). For various reasons, most physicians and pharmacists recommend newer oral hypoglycemic agents, such as glyburide (DiaBeta, Micronase, Glynase) and glipizide (Glucotrol, Glucotrol XL). These medications are usually taken once or twice a day.

Two new medications in pill form are now available to help treat adult-onset diabetes. Metformin (Glucophage) works by slowing the production of glucose (sugar) in the liver and by improving how well the insulin works. Typically taken two or three times a day, metformin may lower blood sugars as much as 40-60 points. But it is not safe for everyone (such as the elderly or those with kidney disease). Acarbose (Precose) works by delaying the digestion of carbohydrates (sugars) into the small intestine (instead of the stomach). Acarbose blunts the sharp rise in blood sugars, which typically occur after a meal. Taken with the first bite of every meal (or, sometimes, even just a snack), acarbose can lower blood sugars substantially.

Many physicians are helping their diabetic patients improve control of their blood sugars by using combinations of two or more medications (often in low doses). Sometimes the need for insulin therapy (shots one to four times a day) can be avoided or at least delayed, depending on the patient's blood sugar level and other medical problems or diabetic complications.

People with adult-onset diabetes should work with their physician to develop an individualized plan to meet their needs and minimize their risk of complications. Some of the things diabetic patients can do are the following:

- Stop Smoking
- Understand diabetes better: AVH Diabetic education program (603) 752-2200; Diabetes Patient Support Line 800-446-7854; American Diabetes Association 800-242-2672; National Diabetes Information Clearinghouse 801-468-2162
- Monitor your blood sugars
- See your eye care practitioner
- See a podiatrist
- Keep Cholesterol in check
- Maintain normal blood pressure
- Have glycosylated hemoglobin tests
- Test for microalbumin
- Protect yourself from infection
- Exercise regularly

TIPS FOR PARENTS

Submitted by: Bethel Family Dentistry

It's not difficult to help your child maintain a healthy smile. Here are a few tips for good oral health.

- Take your child to see the dentist regularly, beginning at six months of age.
- Put only water in a child's nighttime or bedtime bottle.
- Start cleaning your child's mouth daily.
- Start brushing as soon as the first tooth erupts.
- Make sure your child gets the fluoride needed for decay-resistant teeth. Ask your dentist how this should be done.
- Brush and floss your child's teeth daily until the child can be taught to do this alone. Then encourage him or her to brush and floss.

With your help, in combination with their own efforts and regular professional care, your daughters and sons can grow up cavity-free and keep their teeth all their lives.

The 6th Annual Women's Health Conference is coming up on March 30th at Crescent Park School.

Registration is being accepted at the SAD #44 Adult Education Office at 824-2780.

GIVE UNTIL IT DOESN'T HURT.

Child abuse in Maine is on the rise.

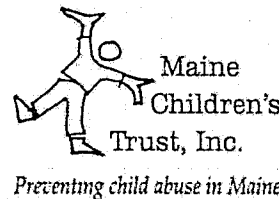

Maine Children's Trust knows that prevention is the solution. In 1994, the total number of referrals to the Department of Human Services increased by nearly 8% to 18,439.

Child abuse can be stopped before it begins.

The goal of the Maine Children's Trust is to prevent child abuse and neglect through education and support for children, parents and families. This private, non-profit corporation provides financial support for effective community prevention programs throughout the state of Maine.

Help Your Heart Recipes

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan. Total fat intake should be less than 30 percent of your total calories for a day - not for each food or recipe.

Mexican Chicken Soup

- | | |
|---|--|
| 2 cups dried pinto beans or garbanzos | 1 clove garlic, minced |
| Water | 1 cup chopped onion |
| 1 3-pound frying chicken, skinned, all visible fat removed, cut into serving pieces | 4 cups canned mildly hot California chili peppers, diced for a milder flavor |
| 2 cups canned no-salt corn tortillas | 16 corn tortillas |

Rinse and soak beans overnight. Drain, add fresh water to beans and cook according to package instructions, omitting salt.

Rinse chicken and pat dry. Place chicken pieces in a large stockpot adding enough water to cover. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Reduce heat. Simmer about 25 minutes, or until chicken is tender.

Remove chicken pieces from broth and remove chicken meat from bones. Return meat to broth along with tomatoes, garlic, onion, chili peppers and beans. Simmer about 15 minutes.

Transfer soup into individual bowls. Serve 2 corn tortillas alongside each. Serves 8. 1 cup per serving.

FROM THE

Bethel Library

Ten women met last week to begin planning the library's quilt for this year's quilt raffle. Nancy Hansen, Jane Hosterman, Becky Kendall, Millie Jackson, June Abbott, Betty Smith, Betsy Raymond, Jean Bass, Rachel MacKay, and Ruth Feeney are all busy translating Bethel's landmarks into quilt squares. Though we have enough crafters to produce a work of art, we don't want to leave anyone out. If you would like to be part of this effort, please contact any of the above.

February "Check It Out!" foreign and classic videos are: "Juarez," "Meeting Venus," "Watch on the Rhine," "The Moon and Sixpence," "Ju-Dou," "Private Lives" (Noel Coward), "The Killing Floor," "Thunder in the City," and "Jazz Time Tale."

New books added to the Bethel Library's collection this month include: "The Shortest Day" by Jane Langton, "Hope" by Len Deighton, "Walking Shadow" by Robert Parker, "Mrs. Pollifax, The Lion Killer" by Gilman, "The Resurrectionist" by Thomas Monteleone, "Shades of Grace" by Barbara Delinsky, "Shock Wave" by Clive Cussler, "Surfing the Himalayas" by Frederick Lenz, "Takedown" by Shimomura, "Thinking in Pictures" by Temple Grandin, "Windy City Blues" by Sara Paretsky, "Eating Well Is The Best Revenge" by Marion Burros, "Friends In High Places" by Douglas Frantz, "Graham Kerr's Best" by Graham Kerr, "Miracle in Seville" by James Michener, "Nice Work" by David Lodge, and "Now Face to Face" by Karen Koen.

Thanks to Lorie and Dick Hoeh for two gift books presented to the Bethel Library. They purchased "Stories from the Old Squire's Farm" by C.A. Stephens in honor of Eric and Lucia Schwarz's anniversary, and "Out To Pasture" by Effie Leland Wilder in honor of Jerry and Shireen Vincent's anniversary.

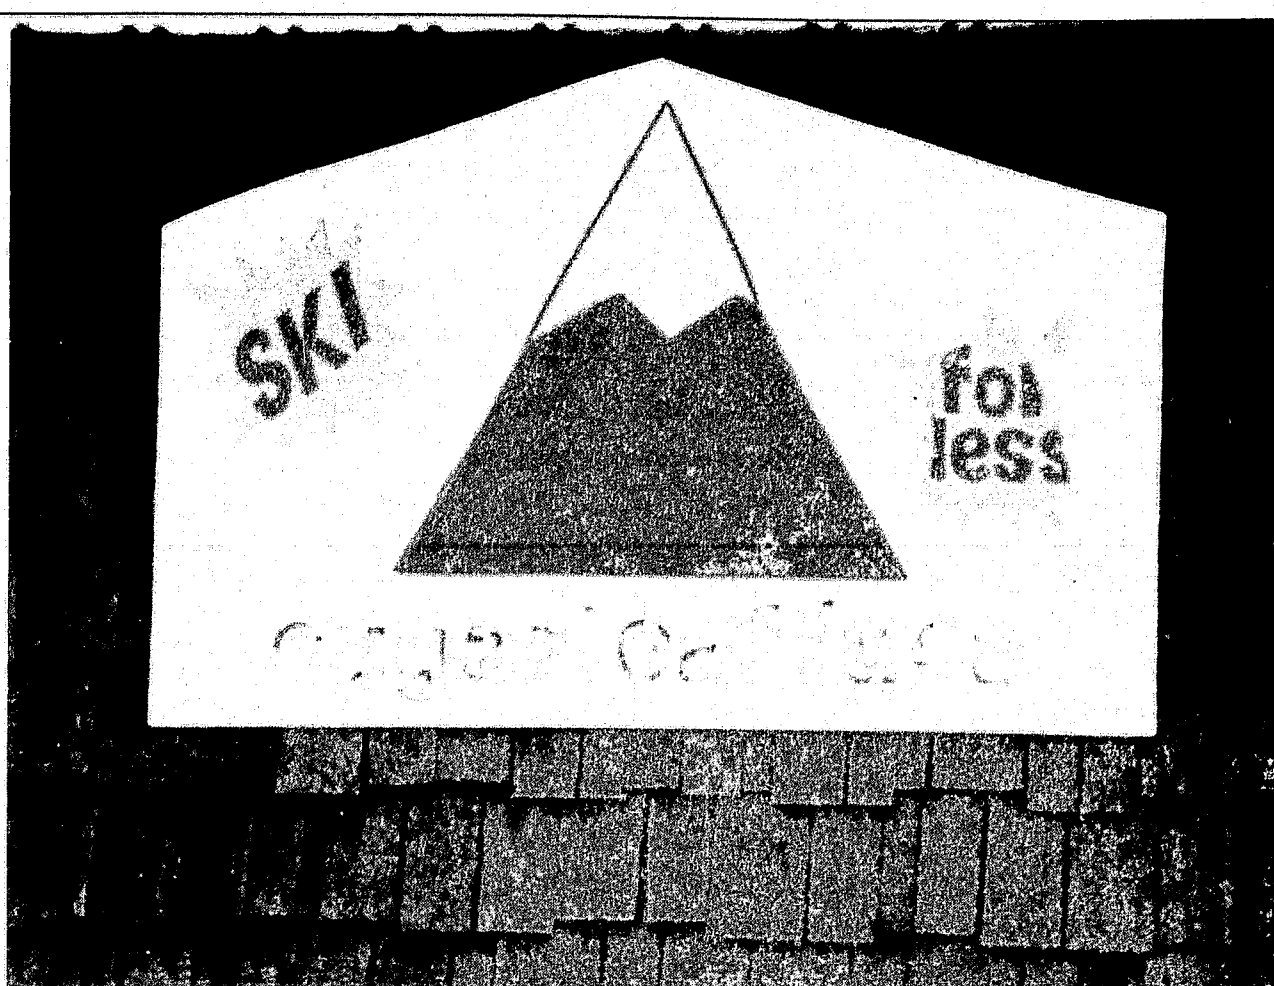

A reminder to all lovers of books: the library has an ongoing book sale, upstairs in the smaller room, all year long. You don't have to wait for Moll-Lockett Day! All books are priced at 25 cents, and we have a large supply of books at the moment.

Betsy Raymond
Librarian

PROPHETIC PUN
The word play in this sign on Eddie Daye's Sunday River Road barn would be immediately apparent to locals (If you don't get it, a hint: "Less" used to be spelled with one "s.")

But the joke took an ironic turn recently when Sunday River Ski Resort Owner Les Otten announced plans to purchase Ski Ltd., the majority owner in Sugarloaf/USA -- and a few other mountains.

GREENWOOD HISTORICAL

The Greenwood Historical Society met Wednesday, Feb. 7 for the first time this year. The January meeting was canceled due to bad weather.

There were 17 members present with president Joan Kimball presiding.

Mary Bean is a new member of the trustees filling in, caused by the death of member Heyward Sawyer.

Anyone interested in buying the Pictorial History of Greenwood can do so by going to the town office, or ordering it mailed. The price is $20, and it ordered by mail please include $2 for postage, and send to Greenwood Historical Society, P.O. Box 141, Locke Mills, ME 04255.

After the meeting refreshments were furnished by Joan Kimball.

At the March meeting refreshments will be furnished by Joyce Hathaway.

For entertainment there will be a program on the continuation of the program of last year on the old roads of Greenwood by Ivan Morey.

The Society wishes to thank Bob Gough for keeping the yard played at the building.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Bethel Senior Citizens celebrated Valentine's Day 1996 at the Congregational Church with 68 present.

Helen Saunders, president, conducted the meeting. Reports were read by the secretary, treasurer, Sunshine Committee and fund-raising. Lindsey Wieden had several announcements after which he read the updated by-laws, which were approved. Twenty birthdays were acknowledged, and Donald Bennett and Keith Brown were listed on the sick list. Polly Davis is accepting payment for 96 dues.

Prizes were won by Emma Page, Barbara Bartlett and Helen Saunders. Ruth L. Gault donated baskets for the lovely Valentine raffle.

The dining room was festive with Valentine decorations and a delicious dinner was served by the ladies of the church. Following dinner, members of the Bell Choir entertained with very special musical selections.

The following dates should be noted: March 6 -- the Senior Class at Gould Academy will entertain the club for lunch at noon at Gould as part of their Four Point Program; March 15 -- dinner at the Bethel Methodist Church with James McElion speaking on safety as relating to seniors; April 10 -- chicken pie dinner at the Locke Mills Legion Hall; May 8 -- the anniversary meeting at Town & Country in Gorham, N.H.

THANK YOU to all our friends and relatives who sent cards and called during the recent loss of Andrew's mom. It means so much to know that so many people care.

Thank You Again
Andre & Hosie Bernier

Card of Thanks

Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair. Perhaps you sent a floral piece, if so we saw it there. Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, as any friend could say, perhaps you were not there at all, just prayed for us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts, we thank you so much, whatever the part.

The Family of
Arthur Bernier

Card of Thanks

I want to thank my very special family and friends for all the cards, flowers, calls and acts of kindness shown to me at the time of the loss of my dad, Norman Ford. Also a special thank you to the nurses at the Norway Convalescent Center who gave him such special loving care. His favorite saying was that I'm a tough old P.I. and 90 years and 11 months proved it. He will be greatly missed by all.

Mary Dixon

Card of Thanks

MANY THANKS to everyone for the prayers, lovely cards and flowers while I was ill. A sincere thanks to the doctors and nurses who took such good care of me while I was at Stephen Memorial and to all that came to see me. Brought food and Valentine gifts and lots of prayers for me since I returned home. Special thanks to my niece Helen for taking care of my house and cat while I was away and to the Greenwood firemen. It is appreciated so much.

God Bless you all
Vera Cross
